Application of the Dutch Corporate Governance Code by ING Groep N.V. (FY 2020)
Introduction

The revised Dutch Corporate Governance Code 2016 ('Code') as drawn up by the Monitoring Committee Dutch Corporate Governance, was published on 8 December 2016. The Code consists of principles and best practice provisions regarding the corporate governance of Dutch listed companies and the associated accountability towards shareholders.

The Code deviates from its predecessors as regards design and content. To underscore the importance of themes as long-term value creation, risk management, culture, effective management and supervision, remuneration and relations with shareholders, the functional arrangement of the Code was replaced by a topical one. By using words such as “continuity” and “long-term value creation”, the revised Code is also more outspoken than its predecessors when it comes to its expectations concerning the outcome of corporate decision-making.

Dutch listed companies, including ING Groep N.V. (‘ING Group’ or ‘ING’), are required to apply the Principles and Best Practice provisions of the Code or to explain why they deviate therefrom. This puts flesh on the basic principle that corporate governance is custom-made, as the Code explicitly declares.

ING Group's application of the Code is based on the official Dutch text of the Code which is available on the internet site of the Monitoring Committee. The Monitoring Committee also provided an unofficial English translation of the Code on its website which is included in this booklet and can be found on the internet site of the Monitoring Committee.

This booklet, which will be updated annually, describes how ING Group applies the revised Code. If applicable, it is indicated that and why it deviates from the Code. In the column “Source: www.ing.com” ING Group only refers to a source which is publicly available.

ING recognises that applying the Code's principles and best practices needs continuous attention.
Chapter 1. Long-term value creation

Principle 1.1 Long-term value creation
The management board is responsible for the continuity of the company and its affiliated enterprise. The management board focuses on long-term value creation for the company and its affiliated enterprise, and takes into account the stakeholder interests that are relevant in this context. The supervisory board monitors the management board in this.

Application by ING Group

1.1.1 Long-term value creation strategy
The management board should develop a view on long-term value creation by the company and its affiliated enterprise and should formulate a strategy in line with this. Depending on market dynamics, it may be necessary to make short-term adjustments to the strategy.

When developing the strategy, attention should in any event be paid to the following:

i. the strategy’s implementation and feasibility;
ii. the business model applied by the company and the market in which the company and its affiliated enterprise operate;
iii. opportunities and risks for the company;
iv. the company’s operational and financial goals and their impact on its future position in relevant markets;
v. the interests of the stakeholders; and
vi. any other aspects relevant to the company and its affiliated enterprise, such as the environment, social and employee-related matters, the chain within which the enterprise operates, respect for human rights, and fighting corruption and bribery.

1.1.2 Involvement of the supervisory board
The management board should engage the supervisory board early on in formulating the strategy for realising long-term value creation. The management board renders account to the supervisory board of the strategy and the explanatory notes to that strategy.

Application by ING Group

- ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Articles

- 8.1.a-b and 14.3 Supervisory Board Charter
- Chapter ‘Supervisory Board report’ in Annual Report 2020

1.1.3 Role of the supervisory board
The supervisory board should supervise the manner in which the management board implements the long-term value creation strategy. The supervisory board should regularly discuss the strategy, the implementation of the strategy and the principal risks associated with it. In the report drawn up by the supervisory board, an account is given of its involvement in the establishment of the strategy, and the way in which it monitors its implementation.

1.1.4 Accountability of the management board
In the management report, the management board should give a more detailed explanation of its view on long-term value creation and the strategy for its realisation, as well as describing which contributions were made to long-term value creation in the past financial year. The management board should report on both the short-term and long-term developments.

Principle 1.2 Risk management
The company should have adequate internal risk management and control systems in place. The management board is responsible for identifying and managing the risks associated with the company’s strategy and activities.

1.2.1 Risk assessment
The management board should identify and analyse the risks associated with the strategy and activities of the company and its affiliated enterprise. It is responsible for establishing the risk appetite, and also the measures that are put in place in order to counter the risks being taken.

1.2.2 Implementation
Based on the risk assessment, the management board should design, implement and maintain adequate internal risk management and control systems. To the extent relevant, these systems should be integrated into the work processes within the company and its affiliated enterprise it, and should be familiar to those whose work they are relevant to.

1.2.3 Monitoring of effectiveness
The management board should monitor the operation of the internal risk management and control systems and should carry out a systematic assessment of their design and effectiveness at least once a year. This monitoring should cover all material control measures relating to strategic, operational, compliance and reporting risks. Attention should be given to observed weaknesses, instances of misconduct and irregularities, indications from whistleblowers, lessons learned and findings from the internal audit function and the external auditor. Where necessary, improvements should be made to internal risk management and control systems.

Principle 1.3 Internal audit function
The duty of the internal audit function is to assess the design and the operation of the internal risk management and control systems. The management board is responsible for the internal audit function. The supervisory board oversees the internal audit function and maintains regular contact with the person fulfilling this function.
1.3.1 Appointment and dismissal
The management board both appoints and dismisses the senior internal auditor. Both the appointment and the dismissal of the senior internal auditor should be submitted to the supervisory board for approval, along with the recommendation issued by the audit committee.

Application by ING Group
ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

www.ing.com

1.3.2 Assessment of the internal audit function
The management board should assess the way in which the internal audit function fulfils its responsibility annually, taking into account the audit committee’s opinion.

Application by ING Group
ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Source:
www.ing.com

1.3.3 Internal audit plan
The internal audit function should draw up an audit plan, involving the management board, the audit committee and the external auditor in this process. The audit plan should be submitted to the management board, and then to the supervisory board, for approval. In this internal audit plan, attention should be paid to the interaction with the external auditor.

Application by ING Group
ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

www.ing.com

1.3.4 Performance of work
The internal audit function should have sufficient resources to execute the internal audit plan and have access to information that is important for the performance of its work. The internal audit function should have direct access to the audit committee and the external auditor. Records should be kept of how the audit committee is informed by the internal audit function.

Application by ING Group
ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Source:
www.ing.com

1.3.5 Reports of findings
The internal audit function should report its audit results to the management board and the essence of its audit results to the audit committee and should inform the external auditor. The research findings of the internal audit function should, at least, include the following:

i. any flaws in the effectiveness of the internal risk management and control systems;
ii. any findings and observations with a material impact on the risk profile of the company and its affiliated enterprise; and
iii. any failings in the follow-up of recommendations made by the internal audit function.

Application by ING Group
ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

1.3.6 Absence of an internal audit department

If there is no separate department for the internal audit function, the supervisory board will assess annually whether adequate alternative measures have been taken, partly on the basis of a recommendation issued by the audit committee, and will consider whether it is necessary to establish an internal audit department. The supervisory board should include the conclusions, along with any resulting recommendations and alternative measures, in the report of the supervisory board.

This Best Practice provision is not applicable to ING Group.

1.4.1 Accountability to the supervisory board

The management board should discuss the effectiveness of the design and operation of the internal risk management and control systems referred to in best practice provisions 1.2.1 to 1.2.3 inclusive with the audit committee, and render account of this to the supervisory board.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Group’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board established a separate Risk Committee from its members. This Risk Committee has, insofar Article 1.2.f and 1.2.l Risk Committee Charter permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. This is confirmed by the fact that establishing a separate Risk Committee has become a best practice for financial institutions (Dutch Banking Code and Dutch Insurers Code) and a legal obligation for banks (Capital requirements directive), respectively.

1.4.2 Accountability in the management report

In the management report, the management board should render account of:

i. the execution of the risk assessment, with a description of the principal risks facing the company in relation to its risk appetite. These risks may include strategic, operational, compliance and reporting risks;

ii. the design and operation of the internal risk management and control systems during the past financial year;

iii. any major failings in the internal risk management and control systems which have been observed in the financial year, any significant changes made to these systems and any major improvements planned, along with a confirmation that these issues have been discussed with the audit committee and the supervisory board; and

iv. the sensitivity of the results of the company to material changes in external factors.

Application by ING Group

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Group’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board established a separate Risk Committee from its members. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. 1.4.3 Statement by the management board

The management board should state in the management report, with clear substantiation, that:

i. the report provides sufficient insights into any failings in the effectiveness of the internal risk management and control systems;

ii. the aforementioned systems provide reasonable assurance that the financial reporting does not contain any material inaccuracies;

iii. based on the current state of affairs, it is justified that the financial reporting is prepared on a going concern basis; and

iv. the report states those material risks and uncertainties that are relevant to the expectation of the company’s continuity for the period of twelve months after the preparation of the report.

Application by ING Group

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

In accordance with the Dutch text of the Code and additional guidance (publically) provided by the Monitoring Committee on 8 December 2016, material failings, if any, in the effectiveness of the internal risk management and control systems will be stated in the management report.

Principle 1.5 Role of the supervisory board

The supervisory board should supervise the policies carried out by the management board and the general affairs of the company and its affiliated enterprise. In so doing, the supervisory board should also focus on the effectiveness of the company’s internal risk management and control systems and the integrity and quality of the financial reporting.

ING Group applies this Principle.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Group’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board established a separate Risk Committee from its members. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. This is confirmed by the fact that establishing a separate Risk Committee has become a best practice for financial institutions (Dutch Banking Code and Dutch Insurers Code) and a legal obligation for banks (Capital requirements directive), respectively.

1.5.1 Duties and responsibilities of the audit committee

The audit committee undertakes preparatory work for the supervisory board’s decision-making regarding the supervision of the integrity and quality of the company’s financial reporting and the effectiveness of the company’s internal risk management and control systems. Among other things, it focuses on monitoring the management board with regard to:

i. relations with, and compliance with recommendations and following up of comments by, the internal and external auditors;
ii. the funding of the company;
iii. the application of information and communication technology by the company, including risks relating to cybersecurity; and
iv. the company’s tax policy.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Group’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board established a separate Risk Committee from its members. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. This is confirmed by the fact that establishing a separate Risk Committee has become a best practice for financial institutions (Dutch Banking Code and Dutch Insurers Code) and a legal obligation for banks (Capital requirements directive), respectively.

Principle 1.6 Appointment and assessment of the functioning of the external auditor
The supervisory board should submit the nomination for the appointment of the external auditor to the general meeting, and should supervise the external auditor’s functioning.

Applicable by ING Group

The audit committee should report annually to the supervisory board on the functioning of, and the developments in, the relationship with the external auditor. The audit committee should advise the supervisory board regarding the external auditor’s nomination for appointment/reappointment or dismissal and should prepare the selection of the external auditor. The audit committee should give due consideration to the management board’s observations during the aforementioned work. Also on this basis, the supervisory board should determine its nomination for the appointment of the external auditor to the general meeting.

Also on this basis, the supervisory board should determine its nomination for the appointment of the external auditor to the general meeting.

Applicable by ING Group

The supervisory board should give the external auditor a general idea of the content of the reports relating to their functioning.

1.6.2 Informing the external auditor about their functioning
The supervisory board should give the external auditor a general idea of the content of the reports relating to their functioning.

Applicable by ING Group

The audit committee should submit a proposal to the supervisory board for the external auditor’s engagement to audit the financial statements. The management board should play a facilitating role in this process. In formulating the terms of engagement, attention should be paid to the scope of the audit, the materiality to be used and remuneration for the audit. The supervisory board should resolve on the engagement.

2.1.3 Executive committee

If the management board works with an executive committee, the management board should take account of the checks and balances that are part of the two-tier system. This means, among other things, that the management board’s expertise and responsibilities are safeguarded and the supervisory board is informed adequately. The supervisory board should supervise this whilst paying specific attention to the dynamics and the relationship between the management board and the executive committee.

In the management report, account should be rendered of:

1. the choice to work with an executive committee;
2. the role, duty and composition of the executive committee; and
3. how the contacts between the supervisory board and the executive committee have been given shape.

Not applicable

ING Group does not have an executive committee.

2.1.4 Expertise

Each supervisory board member and each management board member should have the specific expertise required for the fulfilment of his duties. Each supervisory board member should be capable of assessing the broad outline of the overall management.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.1.5 Diversity policy

The supervisory board should draw up a diversity policy for the composition of the management board, the supervisory board and, if applicable, the executive committee. The policy should address the concrete targets relating to diversity and the diversity aspects relevant to the company, such as nationality, age, gender, and education and work background.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.1.6 Accountability about diversity

The corporate governance statement should explain the diversity policy and the way that it is implemented in practice, addressing:

1. the policy objectives;
2. how the policy has been implemented; and
3. the results of the policy in the past financial year.

If the composition of the management board and the supervisory board diverges from the targets stipulated in the company’s diversity policy and/or the statutory target for the male/female ratio, if and to the extent that this is provided under or pursuant to the law, the current state of affairs should be outlined in the corporate governance statement, along with an explanation as to which measures are being taken to attain the intended target, and by when this is likely to be achieved.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.1.7 Independence of the supervisory board

The composition of the supervisory board is such that the members are able to operate independently and critically vis-à-vis one another, the management board, and any particular interests involved. In order to safeguard its independence, the supervisory board is composed in accordance with the following criteria:

1. any one of the criteria referred to in best practice provision 2.1.8, sections i. to v. inclusive should be applicable to at most one supervisory board member;
2. the total number of supervisory board members to whom the criteria referred to in best practice provision 2.1.8 are applicable should account for less than half of the total number of supervisory board members; and
3. for each shareholder, or group of affiliated shareholders, who directly or indirectly hold more than ten percent of the shares in the company, there is at most one supervisory board member who can be considered to be affiliated with or representing them as stipulated in best practice provision 2.1.8, sections vi. and vii.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.1.8 Independence of supervisory board members *

A supervisory board member is not independent if they or their spouse, registered partner or life companion, foster child or relative by blood or marriage up to the second degree:

1. has been an employee or member of the management board of the company (including associated companies as referred to in Section 5:48 of the Financial Supervision Act (Wet op het financieel toezicht/Wft)) in the five years prior to the appointment;
2. receives personal financial compensation from the company, or a company associated with it, other than the compensation received for the work performed as a supervisory board member and in so far as this is not in keeping with the normal course of business;
3. has had an important business relationship with the company or a company associated with it in the year prior to the appointment. This includes in any event the case where the supervisory board member, or the firm of which he is a shareholder, partner, associate or adviser, has acted as adviser to the company (consultant, external auditor, civil notary or lawyer) and the case where the supervisory board member is a management board member or an employee of a bank with which the company has a lasting and significant relationship;
4. is a member of the management board of a company in which a member of the management board of the company which he supervises is a supervisory board member;
5. has temporarily performed management duties during the previous twelve months in the absence or incapacity of management board members;
6. has a shareholding in the company of at least ten percent, taking into account the shareholding of natural persons or legal entities cooperating with him or her on the basis of an express or tacit, verbal or written agreement;
7. is a member of the management board or supervisory board – or is a representative in some other way – of a legal entity which holds at least ten percent of the shares in the company, unless the entity is a group company.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.2.4 Succession

The supervisory board should ensure that the company has a sound plan in place for the succession of management board and supervisory board members that is aimed at retaining the balance in the requisite expertise, experience and diversity. Due regard should be given to the profile referred to in best practice provision 2.1.1 in drawing up the plan for supervisory board members. The supervisory board should also draw up a retirement schedule in order to avoid, as much as possible, supervisory board members retiring simultaneously. The retirement schedule should be published on the company’s website.

2.2.5 Duties of the selection and appointment committee

The selection and appointment committee should prepare the supervisory board’s decision-making and report to the supervisory board on its deliberations and findings.

The selection and appointment committee should in any event focus on:

1. drawing up selection criteria and appointment procedures for management board members and supervisory board members;
2. periodically assessing the size and composition of the management board and the supervisory board, and making a proposal for a composition profile of the supervisory board;
3. periodically assessing the functioning of individual management board members and supervisory board members, and reporting on this to the supervisory board;
4. drawing up a plan for the succession of management board members and supervisory board members;

2.2.6 Evaluation by the supervisory board

At least once per year, outside the presence of the management board, the supervisory board should evaluate its own functioning, the functioning of the various committees of the supervisory board and that of the individual supervisory board members, and should discuss the conclusions that are attached to the evaluation. In doing so, attention should be paid to:

1. substantive aspects, the mutual interaction and the interaction with the management board;
2. events that occurred in practice from which lessons may be learned; and
3. the desired profile, composition, competencies and expertise of the supervisory board.

2.3.4 Composition of the committees
The audit committee or the remuneration committee should not be chaired by the chairman of the supervisory board or by a former member of the management board of the company. More than half of the members of the committees should be independent within the meaning of best practice provision 2.1.8.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.3.5 Committee reports
The supervisory board should receive from each of the committees a report of their deliberations and findings. In the report of the supervisory board it should comment on how the duties of the committees were carried out in the financial year. In this report, the composition of the committees, the number of committee meetings and the main items discussed at the meetings should be mentioned.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

2.3.6 Chairman of the supervisory board
The chairman of the supervisory board should in any case ensure that:

i. the supervisory board has proper contact with the management board, the employee participation body (if any) and the general meeting;

ii. the supervisory board elects a vice-chairman;

iii. there is sufficient time for deliberation and decision-making by the supervisory board;

iv. the supervisory board members receive all information that is necessary for the proper performance of their duties in a timely fashion;

v. the supervisory board and its committees function properly;

vi. the functioning of individual management board members and supervisory board members is assessed at least annually;

vii. the supervisory board members and management board members follow their induction programme;

viii. the supervisory board members and management board members follow their education or training programme;

ix. the management board performs activities in respect of culture;

x. the supervisory board recognises signs from the enterprise affiliated with the company and ensures that any (suspicion of) material misconduct and irregularities are reported to the supervisory board without delay;

xi. the general meeting proceeds in an orderly and efficient manner;

xii. effective communication with shareholders is assured; and xiii. the supervisory board is involved closely, and at an early stage, in any merger or takeover processes.

The chairman of the supervisory board should consult regularly with the chairman of the management board.

</tbody>
</table>
2.7.3 Reporting

A conflict of interest may exist if the company intends to enter into a transaction with a legal entity:

1. in which a member of the management board or the supervisory board personally has a material financial interest; or
2. which has a member of the management board or the supervisory board who is related under family law to a member of the management board or the supervisory board of the company.

A management board member should report any potential conflict of interest in a transaction that is of material significance to the company and/or to such management board member to the chairman of the supervisory board and to the other members of the management board without delay. The management board member should provide all relevant information in that regard, including the information relevant to the situation concerning his spouse, registered partner or other life companion, foster child and relatives by blood or marriage up to the second degree.

A supervisory board member should report any conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest in a transaction that is of material significance to the company and/or to such supervisory board member to the chairman of the supervisory board without delay and should provide all relevant information in that regard, including the relevant information pertaining to his spouse, registered partner or other life companion, foster child and relatives by blood or marriage up to the second degree. If the chairman of the supervisory board has a conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest, he should report this to the vice-chairman of the supervisory board without delay.

The supervisory board should decide, outside the presence of the management board member or supervisory board member concerned, whether there is a conflict of interest.

2.7.4 Accountability regarding transactions: management board and supervisory board members

All transactions in which there are conflicts of interest with management board members or supervisory board members should be agreed on terms that are customary in the market. Decisions to enter into transactions in which there are conflicts of interest with management board members or supervisory board members that are of material significance to the company and/or to the relevant management board members or supervisory board members should require the approval of the supervisory board. Such transactions should be published in the management report, together with a statement of the conflict of interest and a declaration that best practice provisions 2.7.3 and 2.7.4 have been complied with.

2.7.5 Accountability regarding transactions: majority shareholders

All transactions between the company and legal or natural persons who hold at least ten percent of the shares in the company should be agreed on terms that are customary in the market. Decisions to enter into transactions with such persons that are of material significance to the company and/or to such persons should require the approval of the supervisory board. Such transactions should be published in the management report, together with a declaration that best practice provision 2.7.5 has been complied with.

Chapter 3. Remuneration

Principle 3.1 Remuneration policy – management board

The remuneration policy applicable to management board members should be clear and understandable, should focus on long-term value creation for the company and its affiliated enterprise, and take into account the internal pay ratios within the enterprise. The remuneration policy should not encourage management board members to act in their own interest, nor to take risks that are not in keeping with the strategy formulated and the risk appetite that has been established. The supervisory board is responsible for formulating the remuneration policy and its implementation.

Application by ING Group

ING Group applies this Principle.

3.1.1 Remuneration policy proposal

The remuneration committee should submit a clear and understandable proposal to the supervisory board concerning the remuneration policy to be pursued with regard to the management board. The supervisory board should present the policy to the general meeting for adoption.

Application by ING Group

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

3.1.2 Remuneration policy

The following aspects should in any event be taken into consideration when formulating the remuneration policy:

i. the objectives for the strategy for the implementation of long-term value creation within the meaning of best practice provision 1.1.1;

ii. the scenario analyses carried out in advance;

iii. the pay ratios within the company and its affiliated enterprise;

iv. the development of the market price of the shares;

v. an appropriate ratio between the variable and fixed remuneration components. The variable remuneration component is linked to measurable performance criteria determined in advance, which are predominantly long-term in character;

vi. if shares are being awarded, the terms and conditions governing this. Shares should be held for at least five years after they are awarded; and

vii. if share options are being awarded, the terms and conditions governing this and the terms and conditions subject to which the share options can be exercised. Share options cannot be exercised during the first three years after they are awarded.

3.3.2 Remuneration of supervisory board members
Supervisory board members may not be awarded remuneration in the form of shares and/or rights to shares.

Text Dutch Corporate Governance Code 2016
Principle or Best Practice
3.3.3 Share ownership
Shares held by a supervisory board member in the company on whose supervisory board they serve should be long-term investments.

Principle 3.4 Accountability for implementation of remuneration policy
In the remuneration report, the supervisory board should render account of the implementation of the remuneration policy in a transparent manner. The report should be posted on the company's website.

3.4.1 Remuneration report
The remuneration committee should prepare the remuneration report. This report should in any event describe, in a transparent manner, in addition to the matters required by law:
   i. how the remuneration policy has been implemented in the past financial year;
   ii. how the implementation of the remuneration policy contributes to long-term value creation;
   iii. that scenario analyses have been taken into consideration;
   iv. the pay ratios within the company and its affiliated enterprise and, if applicable, any changes in these ratios in comparison with the previous financial year;
   v. in the event that a management board member receives variable remuneration, how this remuneration contributes to long-term value creation, the measurable performance criteria determined in advance upon which the variable remuneration depends, and the relationship between the remuneration and performance; and
   vi. in the event that a current or former management board member receives a severance payment, the reason for this payment.

3.4.2 Agreement of management board member
The main elements of the agreement of a management board member with the company should be published on the company's website in a transparent overview after the agreement has been concluded, and in any event no later than the date of the notice calling the general meeting where the appointment of the management board member will be proposed.

Chapter 4. The general meeting

Principle 4.1. The general meeting

The general meeting should be able to exert such influence on the policies of the management board and the supervisory board of the company that it plays a fully-fledged role in the system of checks and balances in the company. Good corporate governance requires the fully-fledged participation of shareholders in the decision-making in the general meeting.

4.1.1 Supervisory board supervision

The supervisory board's supervision of the management board should include the supervision of relations with shareholders.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Articles 13.1 and 13.4 Supervisory Board Charter

4.1.2 Proper conduct of business at meetings

The chairman of the general meeting is responsible for ensuring the proper conduct of business at meetings in order to promote a meaningful discussion at the meeting.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Articles 32.1 and 32.5 of Articles of Association ING Group

4.1.3 Agenda

The agenda of the general meeting should list which items are up for discussion and which items are to be voted on. The following items should be dealt with as separate agenda items:

i. material changes to the articles of association;
ii. proposals relating to the appointment of management board and supervisory board members;
iii. the policy of the company on additions to reserves and on dividends (the level and purpose of the addition to reserves, the amount of the dividend and the type of dividend);
iv. any proposal to pay out dividend;
v. resolutions to approve the management conducted by the management board (discharge of management board members from liability);
vii. resolutions to approve the supervision exercised by the supervisory board (discharge of supervisory board members from liability);
ix. each substantial change in the corporate governance structure of the company and in the compliance with this Code; and
x. the appointment of the external auditor.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Annual General Meeting agenda with explanation
4.1.4 Proposal for approval or authorisation
A proposal for approval or authorisation by the general meeting should be explained in writing. In its explanation the management board should deal with all facts and circumstances relevant to the approval or authorisation to be granted. The notes to the agenda should be posted on the company’s website.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Articles 14.2 (i) and 15.2 Management Board Charter
Articles 13.2.k (i) and 13.2.a Supervisory Board Charter
Annual General Meeting agenda with explanation

4.1.5 Shareholder’s explanation when exercising the right to put items on the agenda
If a shareholder has arranged for an item to be put on the agenda, he should explain this at the meeting and, if necessary, answer questions about it.

This Best Practice provision is not directed to ING Group, but rather to its shareholders.

4.1.6 Placing of items on the agenda by shareholders
A shareholder should only exercise the right to put items on the agenda after they have consulted with the management board on this. If one or more shareholders intend to request that an item be put on the agenda that may result in a change in the company’s strategy, for example as a result of the dismissal of one or several management board or supervisory board members, the management board should be given the opportunity to stipulate a reasonable period in which to respond (the response time). The opportunity to stipulate the response time should also apply to an intention as referred to above for judicial leave to call a general meeting pursuant to Section 2:110 of the Dutch Civil Code. The relevant shareholder should respect the response time stipulated by the management board, within the meaning of best practice provision 4.1.7.

This Best Practice provision is not directed to ING Group, but rather to its shareholders.

4.1.7 Stipulation of the response time
If the management board stipulates a response time, this should be a reasonable period that does not exceed 180 days from the moment the management board is informed by one or more shareholders of their intention to put an item on the agenda to the day of the general meeting at which the item is to be dealt with. The management board should use the response time for further deliberation and constructive consultation, in any event with the relevant shareholder(s), and should explore the alternatives. At the end of the response time, the management board should report on this consultation and the exploration to the general meeting. This should be monitored by the supervisory board.

The response time may be stipulated only once for any given general meeting and should not apply to an item in respect of which the response time had been previously stipulated, or to meetings where a shareholder holds at least three-quarters of the issued capital as a consequence of a successful public bid.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

Article 14.2 (ii) Management Board Charter

4.1.8 Attendance of members nominated for the management board or supervisory board Management board and supervisory board members nominated for appointment should attend the general meeting at which votes will be cast on their nomination.

ING Group applies this Best Practice provision.

| 4.3.3 Cancelling the binding nature of a nomination or dismissal
The general meeting of shareholders of a company not having statutory two-tier status (structuurregime) may pass a resolution to cancel the binding nature of a nomination for the appointment of a member of the management board or of the supervisory board and/or a resolution to dismiss a member of the management board or of the supervisory board by an absolute majority of the votes cast. It may be provided that this majority should represent a given proportion of the issued capital, which proportion may not exceed one-third. If this proportion of the capital is not represented at the meeting, but an absolute majority of the votes cast is in favour of a resolution to cancel the binding nature of a nomination, or to dismiss a board member, a new meeting may be convened at which the resolution may be passed by an absolute majority of the votes cast, regardless of the proportion of the capital represented at the meeting. | ING deviates from this Best Practice provision.
According to the articles of association of ING Group, resolutions of the general meeting referred to in best practice provision 4.3.3 require a majority of votes representing more than 50% of the issued share capital. This measure safeguards that a General Meeting with a low attendance rate cannot adopt certain significant shareholder proposals and thus contributes to good governance.
A second meeting referred to in Best Practice provision 4.3.3. will not be convened as this would make the above-mentioned majority requirement ineffective. | Articles 18.2, 18.3, 24.2 and 24.3 of Articles of Association ING Group

| 4.3.5 Publication of institutional investors’ voting policy
Institutional investors (pension funds, insurers, investment institutions and asset managers) should post annually, in any event on their website, their policy on the exercise of the voting rights for shares they hold in listed companies. | This Best Practice provision is not applicable due to the fact that ING Group is not an institutional investor.

Principle 4.4 Issuing depositary receipts for shares

Depositary receipts for shares can be a means of preventing a majority (including a chance majority) of shareholders from controlling the decision-making process as a result of absenteeism at a general meeting. Depositary receipts for shares should not be issued as an anti-takeover protective measure. The board of the trust office should issue voting proxies under all circumstances and without limitations to all depositary receipt holders who request this. The holders of depositary receipts so authorised can exercise the voting right at their discretion. The board of the trust office should have the confidence of the holders of depositary receipts. Depositary receipt holders should have the possibility of recommending candidates for the board of the trust office. According to its Articles of Association, ING is not authorised to cooperate with the issue of depositary receipts for shares according to Dutch law.

Article 5.4 Articles of Association ING Group

Principle 4.4 Trust office board

The board of the trust office should have the confidence of the holders of depositary receipts and operate independently of the company that has issued the depositary receipts. The trust conditions should specify in what cases and subject to what conditions holders of depositary receipts may request the trust office to call a meeting of holders of depositary receipts.

Principle 4.4.2 Appointment of board members

The board members of the trust office should be appointed by the board of the trust office, after the job opening has been announced on the website of the trust office. The meeting of holders of depositary receipts may make recommendations to the board of the trust office for the appointment of persons to the position of board member. No management board members or former management board members, supervisory board members or former supervisory board members, employees or permanent advisers of the company should be a member of the board of the trust office.

Principle 4.4.3 Board appointment period

A person may be appointed to the board of the trust office for a maximum of two four-year terms, followed by a maximum of two two-year terms. In the event of a reappointment after an eight-year period, reasons should be given in the report of the board of the trust office.

Principle 4.4.4 Attendance of the general meeting

The board of the trust office should attend the general meeting and should, if desired, make a statement about how it proposes to vote at the meeting.

Principle 4.4.5 Exercise of voting rights

In exercising its voting rights, the trust office should be guided primarily by the interests of the depositary receipt holders, taking the interests of the company and the enterprise affiliated with it into account.

Principle 4.4.6 Periodic reports

The trust office should report periodically, but at least once per year, on its activities. The report should be posted on the company’s website.
4.4.7 Contents of the reports

The report referred to in best practice provision 4.4.6 should, in any event, set out:

- i. the number of shares for which depositary receipts have been issued and an explanation of changes to this number;
- ii. the work carried out in the financial year;
- iii. the voting behaviour in the general meetings held in the financial year;
- iv. the percentage of votes represented by the trust office during the meetings referred to under iii.;
- v. the remuneration of the members of the board of the trust office;
- vi. the number of meetings held by the management and the main items dealt with in them;
- vii. the costs of the activities of the trust office;
- viii. any external advice obtained by the trust office;
- ix. the (other) positions held by the board members of the trust office; and
- x. the contact details of the trust office.

This Best Practice provision is not applicable to ING Group, see Principle 4.4.

4.4.8 Voting proxies

The board of the trust office should issue voting proxies under all circumstances and without limitations to all depositary receipt holders who request this. Each depositary receipt holder may also issue binding voting instructions to the trust office in respect of the shares which the trust office holds on his behalf.

This Best Practice provision is not applicable to ING Group, see Principle 4.4.
