Introduction

The revised Dutch Corporate Governance Code 2016 (Code) as drawn up by the Monitoring Committee Dutch Corporate Governance, was published on 8 December 2016. The Code consists of principles and best practice provisions regarding the corporate governance of Dutch listed companies and the associated accountability towards shareholders.

The Code deviates from its predecessors as regards design and content. To underscore the importance of themes as long-term value creation, risk management, culture, effective management and supervision, remuneration and relations with shareholders, the functional arrangement of the Code was replaced by a topical one. By using words such as ‘continuity’ and ‘long-term value creation’, the revised Code is also more outspoken than its predecessors when it comes to its expectations concerning the outcome of corporate decision-making.

Dutch listed companies, including ING Groep N.V. (ING Groep), are required to apply the principles and best practice provisions of the Code or to explain why they deviate therefrom. This puts flesh on the basic principle that corporate governance is custom-made, as the Code explicitly declares.

ING Groep’s application of the Code is based on the official Dutch text of the Code which is available on the internet site of the Monitoring Committee. The Monitoring Committee also provided an unofficial English translation of the Code on its website which is included in this booklet and can be found on the internet site of the Monitoring Committee.

This booklet, which will be updated annually, describes how ING Groep applies the revised Code. If applicable, it is indicated that and why it deviates from the Code. In the column “Source: www.ing.com” ING Groep only refers to a source that is publicly available.

ING Groep recognises that applying the Code’s principles and best practices needs continuous attention.

| The management board is responsible for the continuity of the company and its affiliated enterprise. The management board focuses on long-term value creation for the company and its affiliated enterprise, and takes into account the stakeholder interests that are relevant in this context. ### 1.1.1 Long-term value creation strategy

The management board should develop a view on long-term value creation by the company and its affiliated enterprise and should formulate a strategy in line with this. Depending on market dynamics, it may be necessary to make short-term adjustments to the strategy.

When developing the strategy, attention should in any event be paid to the following:

i. the strategy’s implementation and feasibility;

ii. the business model applied by the company and the market in which the company and its affiliated enterprise operate;

iii. opportunities and risks for the company;

iv. the company’s operational and financial goals and their impact on its future position in relevant markets;

v. the interests of the stakeholders; and

vi. any other aspects relevant to the company and its affiliated enterprise, such as the environment, social and employee-related matters, the chain within which the enterprise operates, respect for human rights, and fighting corruption and bribery.

1.1.2 Involvement of the supervisory board

The management board should engage the supervisory board early on in formulating the strategy for realising long-term value creation. The management board renders account to the supervisory board of the strategy and the explanatory notes to that strategy.

1.1.3 Role of the supervisory board

The supervisory board should supervise the manner in which the management board implements the long-term value creation strategy. The supervisory board should regularly discuss the strategy, the implementation of the strategy and the principal risks associated with it. In the report drawn up by the supervisory board, an account is given of its involvement in the establishment of the strategy, and the way in which it monitors its implementation.

In the management report, the management board should give a more detailed explanation of its view on long-term value creation and the strategy for its realisation, as well as describing which contributions were made to long-term value creation in the past financial year. The management board should report on both the short-term and long-term developments.

Principle 1.2 Risk management

The company should have adequate internal risk management and control systems in place. The management board is responsible for identifying and managing the risks associated with the company’s strategy and activities.

1.2.1 Risk assessment

The management board should identify and analyse the risks associated with the strategy and activities of the company and its affiliated enterprise. It is responsible for establishing the risk appetite, and also the measures that are put in place in order to counter the risks being taken.

1.2.2 Implementation

Based on the risk assessment, the management board should design, implement and maintain adequate internal risk management and control systems. To the extent relevant, these systems should be integrated into the work processes within the company and its affiliated enterprise, and should be familiar to those whose work they are relevant to.

1.2.3 Monitoring of effectiveness

The management board should monitor the operation of the internal risk management and control systems and should carry out a systematic assessment of their design and effectiveness at least once a year. This monitoring should cover all material control measures relating to strategic, operational, compliance and reporting risks. Attention should be given to observed weaknesses, instances of misconduct and irregularities, indications from whistleblowers, lessons learned and findings from the internal audit function and the external auditor. Where necessary, improvements should be made to internal risk management and control systems.

Principle 1.3 Internal audit function

The duty of the internal audit function is to assess the design and the operation of the internal risk management and control systems. The management board is responsible for the internal audit function. The supervisory board oversees the internal audit function and maintains regular contact with the person fulfilling this function.

1.3.6 Absence of an internal audit department
If there is no separate department for the internal audit function, the supervisory board will assess annually whether adequate alternative measures have been taken, partly on the basis of a recommendation issued by the audit committee, and will consider whether it is necessary to establish an internal audit department. The supervisory board should include the conclusions, along with any resulting recommendations and alternative measures, in the report of the supervisory board.

ING Groep has an internal audit department.

Principle 1.4 Risk management accountability
The management board should render account of the effectiveness of the design and the operation of the internal risk management and control systems.

ING Groep applies this principle.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Groep’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board has a separate Risk Committee. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk-related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. This is confirmed by the fact that establishing a separate Risk Committee has become a best practice for financial institutions (Dutch Banking Code) and a legal obligation for banks (Capital requirements directive), respectively.

NOT APPLICABLE
1.4.2 Accountability in the management report

In the management report, the management board should render account of:

1. the execution of the risk assessment, with a description of the principal risks facing the company in relation to its risk appetite. These risks may include strategic, operational, compliance and reporting risks;
2. the design and operation of the internal risk management and control systems during the past financial year;
3. any major failings in the internal risk management and control systems which have been observed in the financial year, any significant changes made to these systems and any major improvements planned, along with a confirmation that these issues have been discussed with the audit committee and the supervisory board; and
4. the sensitivity of the results of the company to material changes in external factors.

1.4.3 Statement by the management board

The management board should state in the management report, with clear substantiation, that:

1. the report provides sufficient insights into any failings in the effectiveness of the internal risk management and control systems;
2. the aforementioned systems provide reasonable assurance that the financial reporting does not contain any material inaccuracies;
3. based on the current state of affairs, it is justified that the financial reporting is prepared on a going concern basis; and
4. the report states those material risks and uncertainties that are relevant to the expectation of the company’s continuity for the period of twelve months after the preparation of the report.

Application by ING Groep

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

Principle 1.5 Role of the supervisory board

The supervisory board should supervise the policies carried out by the management board and the general affairs of the company and its affiliated enterprise. In so doing, the supervisory board should also focus on the effectiveness of the company’s internal risk management and control systems and the integrity and quality of the financial reporting.

ING Groep applies this principle.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Groep’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board has a separate Risk Committee. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk-related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. This is confirmed by the fact that establishing a separate Risk Committee has become a best practice for financial institutions (Dutch Banking Code) and a legal obligation for banks (Capital requirements directive), respectively.

1.5.1 Duties and responsibilities of the audit committee

The audit committee undertakes preparatory work for the supervisory board’s decision-making regarding the supervision of the integrity and quality of the company’s financial reporting and the effectiveness of the company’s internal risk management and control systems. Among other things, it focuses on monitoring the management board with regard to:

i. relations with, and compliance with recommendations and following up of comments by, the internal and external auditors;
ii. the funding of the company;
iii. the application of information and communication technology by the company, including risks relating to cybersecurity; and
iv. the company’s tax policy.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Groep’s risk organisation, the Supervisory Board has a separate Risk Committee. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk-related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. 1.5.2 Attendance of the management board, internal auditor and external auditor at audit committee consultations

The chief financial officer, the internal auditor and the external auditor should attend the audit committee meetings, unless the audit committee determines otherwise. The audit committee should decide whether and, if so, when the chairman of the management board should attend its meetings.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

- Article 3.2 Audit Committee Charter

1.5.3 Audit committee report

The audit committee should report to the supervisory board on its deliberations and findings. This report must, at least, include the following information:

i. the methods used to assess the effectiveness of the design and operation of the internal risk management and control systems referred to in best practice provisions 1.2.1 to 1.2.3, inclusive;

ii. the methods used to assess the effectiveness of the internal and external audit processes;

iii. material considerations regarding financial reporting;

iv. the way material risks and uncertainties referred to in best practice provision 1.4.3 have been analysed and discussed, along with a description of the most important findings of the audit committee.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

In the context of the strengthening of ING Groep's risk organisation, the Supervisory Board has a separate Risk Committee. This Risk Committee has, insofar permitted by law, taken over the tasks of the Audit Committee with respect to risks and risk management, which enables the Audit Committee and the Risk Committee to focus on their own areas of interest. By doing so, financial reporting as well as risk-related topics receive more scrutiny. The above contributes to good, or even better, corporate governance. </table>
| The management board and the supervisory board should be composed such that the requisite expertise, background, competencies and – as regards the supervisory board – independence are present for them to carry out their duties properly. The size of these two bodies reflects these requirements. | ING Groep applies this principle. | - Profile of the Executive Board
- Profile of the Supervisory Board
- Chapter ‘Our Leadership’ in the Annual Report 2022 |

2.1.1 Profile

The supervisory board should prepare a profile, taking account of the nature and the activities of the enterprise affiliated with the company. The profile should address:

1. the desired expertise and background of the supervisory board members;
2. the desired diverse composition of the supervisory board, referred to in best practice provision 2.1.5;
3. the size of the supervisory board; and
4. the independence of the supervisory board members.

The profile should be posted on the company’s website.

2.1.2 Personal information

The following information about each supervisory board member should be included in the report of the supervisory board:

1. gender;
2. age;
3. nationality;
4. principal position;
5. other positions, in so far as they are relevant to the performance of the duties of the supervisory board member;
6. date of initial appointment; and
7. current term of office.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.
- Chapter ‘Supervisory Board report’ in the Annual Report 2022
- Chapter ‘Corporate governance’ in the Annual Report 2022
2.1.3 Executive committee
If the management board works with an executive committee, the management board should take account of the checks and balances that are part of the two-tier system. This means, among other things, that the management board’s expertise and responsibilities are safeguarded and the supervisory board is informed adequately. The supervisory board should supervise this whilst paying specific attention to the dynamics and the relationship between the management board and the executive committee.

In the management report, account should be rendered of:

i. the choice to work with an executive committee;
ii. the role, duty and composition of the executive committee; and
iii. how the contacts between the supervisory board and the executive committee have been given shape.

2.1.4 Expertise
Each supervisory board member and each management board member should have the specific expertise required for the fulfilment of his duties. Each supervisory board member should be capable of assessing the broad outline of the overall management.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

2.1.5 Diversity policy
The supervisory board should draw up a diversity policy for the composition of the management board, the supervisory board and, if applicable, the executive committee. The policy should address the concrete targets relating to diversity and the diversity aspects relevant to the company, such as nationality, age, gender, and education and work background.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

2.1.6 Accountability about diversity
The corporate governance statement should explain the diversity policy and the way that it is implemented in practice, addressing:

i. the policy objectives;
ii. how the policy has been implemented; and
iii. the results of the policy in the past financial year.

If the composition of the management board and the supervisory board diverges from the targets stipulated in the company’s diversity policy and/or the statutory target for the male/female ratio, if and to the extent that this is provided under or pursuant to the law, the current state of affairs should be outlined in the corporate governance statement, along with an explanation as to which measures are being taken to attain the intended target, and by when this is likely to be achieved.
2.1.7 Independence of the supervisory board

The composition of the supervisory board is such that the members are able to operate independently and critically vis-à-vis one another, the management board, and any particular interests involved.

In order to safeguard its independence, the supervisory board is composed in accordance with the following criteria:

i. any one of the criteria referred to in best practice provision 2.1.8, sections i. to v. inclusive should be applicable to at most one supervisory board member;

ii. the total number of supervisory board members to whom the criteria referred to in best practice provision 2.1.8 are applicable should account for less than half of the total number of supervisory board members; and

iii. for each shareholder, or group of affiliated shareholders, who directly or indirectly hold more than ten percent of the shares in the company, there is at most one supervisory board member who can be considered to be affiliated with or representing them as stipulated in best practice provision 2.1.8, sections vi. and vii.

ING Groep applies this best practice provision.

2.1.8 Independence of supervisory board members

A supervisory board member is not independent if they or their spouse, registered partner or life companion, foster child or relative by blood or marriage up to the second degree:

ii. receives personal financial compensation from the company, or a company associated with it, other than the compensation received for the work performed as a supervisory board member and in so far as this is not in keeping with the normal course of business;

iii. has had an important business relationship with the company or a company associated with it in the year prior to the appointment. This includes in any event the case where the supervisory board member, or the firm of which he is a shareholder, partner, associate or adviser, has acted as adviser to the company (consultant, external auditor, civil notary or lawyer) and the case where the supervisory board member is a management board member or an employee of a bank with which the company has a lasting and significant relationship;

iv. is a member of the management board of a company in which a member of the management board of the company which he supervises is a supervisory board member;

v. has temporarily performed management duties during the previous twelve months in the absence or incapacity of management board members;

vi. has a shareholding in the company of at least ten percent, taking into account the shareholding of natural persons or legal entities cooperating with him or her on the basis of an express or tacit, verbal or written agreement;

In doing so, attention should be paid to:

2.7.3 Reporting
A conflict of interest may exist if the company intends to enter into a transaction with a legal entity:

i. in which a member of the management board or the supervisory board personally has a material financial interest; or

ii. which has a member of the management board or the supervisory board who is related under family law to a member of the management board or the supervisory board of the company.

A management board member should report any potential conflict of interest in a transaction that is of material significance to the company and/or to such management board member to the chairman of the supervisory board and to the other members of the management board without delay. The management board member should provide all relevant information in that regard, including the information relevant to the situation concerning his spouse, registered partner or other life companion, foster child and relatives by blood or marriage up to the second degree.

A supervisory board member should report any conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest in a transaction that is of material significance to the company and/or to such supervisory board member to the chairman of the supervisory board without delay. The supervisory board member should report this to the vice-chairman of the supervisory board without delay.

The supervisory board should decide, outside the presence of the management board member or supervisory board member concerned, whether there is a conflict of interest.

2.7.4 Accountability regarding transactions: management board and supervisory board members
All transactions in which there are conflicts of interest with management board members or supervisory board members should be agreed on terms that are customary in the market. Decisions to enter into transactions in which there are conflicts of interest with management board members or supervisory board members that are of material significance to the company and/or to the relevant management board members or supervisory board members should require the approval of the supervisory board. Such transactions should be published in the management report, together with a statement of the conflict of interest and a declaration that best practice provisions 2.7.3 and 2.7.4 have been complied with.

2.7.5 Accountability regarding transactions: majority shareholders
All transactions between the company and legal or natural persons who hold at least ten percent of the shares in the company should be agreed on terms that are customary in the market. Decisions to enter into transactions with such persons that are of material significance to the company and/or to such persons should require the approval of the supervisory board. Such transactions should be published in the management report, together with a declaration that best practice provision 2.7.5 has been complied with.

The company should not grant its management board members and supervisory board members any personal loans, guarantees or the like unless in the normal course of business and on terms applicable to the personnel as a whole, and after approval of the supervisory board. No remission of loans should be granted.

Principle 2.8 Takeover situations

In the event of a takeover bid for the company’s shares or for the depositary receipts for the company’s shares, or in the event of a private bid for a business unit or a participating interest, where the value of the bid exceeds the threshold referred to in Section 2:107a(1)(c) of the Dutch Civil Code, and/or in the event of other substantial changes in the structure of the organisation, both the management board and the supervisory board should ensure that the stakeholder interests concerned are carefully weighed and any conflict of interest for supervisory board members or management board members is avoided. The management board and the supervisory board should be guided in their actions by the interests of the company and its affiliated enterprise.

2.8.1 Supervisory board involvement

When a takeover bid for the company’s shares or for the depositary receipts for the company’s shares is being prepared, in the event of a private bid for a business unit or a participating interest, where the value of the bid exceeds the threshold referred to in Section 2:107a(1)(c) of the Dutch Civil Code, and/or in the event of other substantial changes in the structure of the organisation, the management board should ensure that the supervisory board is involved in the takeover process and/or the change in the structure closely and in a timely fashion.

2.8.2 Informing the supervisory board about request for inspection by competing bidder

If a takeover bid has been announced for the shares, or depositary receipts for shares, in the company, and the management board receives a request from a competing bidder to inspect the company’s records, the management board should discuss this request with the supervisory board without delay.

2.8.3 Management board’s position on a private bid

If a private bid for a business unit or a participating interest has been made public, where the value of the bid exceeds the threshold referred to in Section 2:107a(1)(c) of the Dutch Civil Code, the management board of the company should as soon as possible make public its position on the bid and the reasons for this position.

3.1.3 Remuneration – executive committee

If the management board works with an executive committee, the management board should inform the supervisory board about the remuneration of the members of the executive committee who are not management board members. The management board should discuss this remuneration with the supervisory board annually.

Principle 3.2 Determination of management board remuneration

The supervisory board should determine the remuneration of the individual members of the management board, within the limits of the remuneration policy adopted by the general meeting. The remuneration committee should prepare the supervisory board’s decision-making regarding the determination of remuneration. The inadequate performance of duties should not be rewarded.

3.2.1 Remuneration committee’s proposal

The remuneration committee should submit a proposal to the supervisory board concerning the remuneration of individual members of the management board. The proposal is drawn up in accordance with the remuneration policy that has been established and will, in any event, cover the remuneration structure, the amount of the fixed and variable remuneration components, the performance criteria used, the scenario analyses that are carried out and the pay ratios within the company and its affiliated enterprise.

3.2.2 Management board members’ views on their own remuneration

When drafting the proposal for the remuneration of management board members, the remuneration committee should take note of individual management board members’ views with regard to the amount and structure of their own remuneration. The remuneration committee should ask the members of the management board to pay attention to the aspects referred to in best practice provision 3.1.2.

3.2.3 Severance payments

The remuneration in the event of dismissal should not exceed one year’s salary (the ‘fixed’ remuneration component). Severance pay will not be awarded if the agreement is terminated early at the initiative of the management board member, or in the event of seriously culpable or negligent behaviour on the part of the management board member.

Principle 3.3 Remuneration – supervisory board

The supervisory board should submit a clear and understandable proposal for its own appropriate remuneration to the general meeting. The remuneration of supervisory board members should promote an adequate performance of their role and should not be dependent on the results of the company.

Chapter 4. The general meeting

Principle 4.1 The general meeting

The general meeting should be able to exert such influence on the policies of the management board and the supervisory board of the company that it plays a fully-fledged role in the system of checks and balances in the company. Good corporate governance requires the fully-fledged participation of shareholders in the decision-making in the general meeting.

4.1.1 Supervisory board supervision

The supervisory board's supervision of the management board should include the supervision of relations with shareholders.

iii. the policy of the company on additions to reserves and on dividends (the level and purpose of the addition to reserves, the amount of the dividend and the type of dividend);
iv. any proposal to pay out dividend;
v. resolutions to approve the management conducted by the management board (discharge of management board members from liability);

The opportunity to stipulate the response time should also apply to an intention as referred to above for judicial leave to call a general meeting pursuant to Section 2:110 of the Dutch Civil Code. The management board should use the response time for further deliberation and constructive consultation, in any event with the relevant shareholder(s), and should explore the alternatives. At the end of the response time, the management board should report on this consultation and the exploration to the general meeting. This should be monitored by the supervisory board. The response time may be stipulated only once for any given general meeting and should not apply to an item in respect of which the response time had been previously stipulated, or to meetings where a shareholder holds at least three-quarters of the issued capital as a consequence of a successful public bid.</td>

4.3.3 Cancelling the binding nature of a nomination or dismissal

The general meeting of shareholders of a company not having statutory two-tier status (structuurregime) may pass a resolution to cancel the binding nature of a nomination for the appointment of a member of the management board or of the supervisory board and/or a resolution to dismiss a member of the management board or of the supervisory board by an absolute majority of the votes cast. It may be provided that this majority should represent a given proportion of the issued capital, which proportion may not exceed one-third. If this proportion of the capital is not represented at the meeting, but an absolute majority of the votes cast is in favour of a resolution to cancel the binding nature of a nomination, or to dismiss a board member, a new meeting may be convened at which the resolution may be passed by an absolute majority of the votes cast, regardless of the proportion of the capital represented at the meeting.

ING Groep deviates from this best practice provision.

According to the Articles of Association of ING Groep, resolutions of the general meeting referred to in best practice provision 4.3.3 require a majority of votes representing more than 50% of the issued share capital. This measure safeguards that a General Meeting with a low attendance rate cannot adopt certain significant shareholder proposals and thus contributes to good governance.

A second meeting referred to in Best Practice provision 4.3.3. will not be convened as this would make the above-mentioned majority requirement ineffective.

• Articles 18.2, 18.3, 24.2 and 24.3 of Articles of Association ING Groep N.V.

4.3.4 Voting right on financing preference shares

The voting right attaching to financing preference shares should be based on the fair value of the capital contribution.

This best practice provision is not applicable to ING Groep due to the fact that ING Groep has not issued financing preference shares.

Not applicable

4.3.5 Publication of institutional investors’ voting policy

Institutional investors (pension funds, insurers, investment institutions and asset managers) should post annually, in any event on their website, their policy on the exercise of the voting rights for shares they hold in listed companies.

This best practice provision is not applicable due to the fact that ING Groep is not an institutional investor.

Not applicable

4.3.6 Report on the implementation of institutional investors’ voting policy

Institutional investors should report annually, on their website and/or in their management report, on how they implemented their policy on the exercise of the voting rights in the relevant financial year. In addition, they should report on their website at least once per quarter on whether and, if so, how they have voted as shareholders at general meetings. This report will be posted on the website of the institutional investor.

This best practice provision is not applicable due to the fact that ING Groep is not an institutional investor.

Not applicable
Principle 4.4 Issuing depositary receipts for shares

Depositary receipts for shares can be a means of preventing a majority (including a chance majority) of shareholders from controlling the decision-making process as a result of absenteeism at a general meeting. Depositary receipts for shares should not be issued as an anti-takeover protective measure. The board of the trust office should issue voting proxies under all circumstances and without limitations to all depositary receipt holders who request this. The holders of depositary receipts so authorised can exercise the voting right at their discretion. The board of the trust office should have the confidence of the holders of depositary receipts. Depositary receipt holders should have the possibility of recommending candidates for the board of the trust office. The company should not disclose to the trust office information which has not been made public.
